2011-2012 PART Tip Sheet

Talking Point #1:
The University of Pittsburgh has all the benefits of a large research university but is small enough for students to receive personalized attention and carve out their own niche within the University of Pittsburgh.

Talking Point #2:
The University of Pittsburgh has all the big city benefits while maintaining a smaller campus community.

Talking Point #3:
A recurring theme here at the University of Pittsburgh is the variety of OPTIONS available to our students in and outside of the classroom.

Talking Point #4:
The University of Pittsburgh can be judged by the company we keep, our international recognition, and by the investment we make in our academically talented incoming students. Almost 60% of students offered admission to Pitt are in the top 10% of their high school class.

Talking Point #6:
Do not eliminate a school based on cost alone, and remember to compare bottom-line costs.

Talking Point #7:
Applicants are reviewed for general admission, University Honors College eligibility, Freshmen Guarantees, and merit-based scholarships automatically and the review process is holistic.

Talking Point #8:
The first step in securing need-based financial aid is the completion of the FAFSA. If the FAFSA is complete by March 1, students will receive the results in time to compare with other schools before a final decision is required.
